"We are extremely honored to be recognized by Newsweek as one of the World's Most Trustworthy Companies," said John Pfeifer, president and chief executive officer of Oshkosh Corporation. "As an industrial technology company, we have spent more than a century doing business the right way. This recognition supports our purpose of making a difference in people's lives and is a testament to how Oshkosh team members embrace and live our core values."

Newsweek partnered with Statista, a leading provider of market and consumer data, to evaluate companies with revenues over $500 million USD. The list highlights companies in 23 industries from 21 countries who were rated by 70,000 participants within those countries across the three main pillars of trust: customer trust, investor trust and employee trust. Sentiment analysis through social listening was used as a secondary input.

In addition to being named one of the World's Most Trustworthy Companies, Oshkosh Corporation has been named one of America's Most Responsible Companies by Newsweek, one of FORTUNE's World's Most Admired Companies, recognized by Ethisphere as one of the World's Most Ethical companies and listed on the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index.

Forward Looking Statements

This news release contains statements that the Company believes to be “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements other than statements of historical fact, including, without limitation, statements regarding the Company’s future financial position, business strategy, targets, projected sales, costs, earnings, capital expenditures, debt levels and cash flows, and plans and objectives of management for future operations, are forward-looking statements. When used in this news release, words such as “may,” “will,” “expect,” “intend,” “estimate,” “anticipate,” “believe,” “should,” “project” or “plan” or the negative thereof or variations thereon or similar terminology are generally intended to identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and are subject to risks, uncertainties, assumptions and other factors, some of which are beyond the Company’s control, which could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These factors include the Company’s ability to successfully integrate the AeroTech acquisition and to realize the anticipated benefits associated with the same; the risks associated with international operations and sales, including compliance with the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act; the Company’s ability to comply with complex laws and regulations applicable to U.S. government contractors; cybersecurity risks and costs of defending against, mitigating and responding to data security threats and breaches impacting the Company; the Company’s ability to successfully identify, complete and integrate other acquisitions and to realize the anticipated benefits associated with the same; and risks related to the Company’s ability to successfully execute on its strategic road map and meet its long-term financial goals. Additional information concerning these and other factors is contained in the Company’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. All forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this news release. The Company assumes no obligation, and disclaims any obligation, to update information contained in this news release. Investors should be aware that the Company may not update such information until the Company’s next quarterly earnings conference call, if at all.
