Ambrose served as a federal civil servant on the senior legislative liaison teams in the Office of the Director of National Intelligence and Department of Defense's Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization. She began her professional experience on Capitol Hill in the U.S. House of Representatives. In her new role at Oshkosh, she will be responsible for executing the company's global public policy and its federal legislative, state and local government affairs priorities. In addition, she will manage the Oshkosh Corporation government affairs office in Washington, D.C., which supports the company's 13 market-leading businesses.

"We are honored to welcome Angela to the Oshkosh family," said Ignacio A. Cortina, executive vice president, chief legal officer and secretary of Oshkosh Corporation. "Her extensive and diverse experience will further our government strategy, support the business' key priorities and foster the strong relationships we have developed on Capitol Hill while building new ones at every level of government operations."

Ambrose earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in communications from Edinboro University of Pennsylvania and a Master of Arts degree in national security and strategic studies from the U.S. Naval War College. She was named The Hill's Top Lobbyist in 2021, 2022 and 2023 and is a board member of the National Defense Industrial Association and the National Defense University Foundation.

Forward Looking Statements

This news release contains statements that the Company believes to be “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements other than statements of historical fact, including, without limitation, statements regarding the Company's future financial position, business strategy, targets, projected sales, costs, earnings, capital expenditures, debt levels and cash flows, and plans and objectives of management for future operations, are forward-looking statements. When used in this news release, words such as “may,” “will,” “expect,” “intend,” “estimate,” “anticipate,” “believe,” “should,” “project,” “confident” or “plan” or the negative thereof or variations thereon or similar terminology are generally intended to identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and are subject to risks, uncertainties, assumptions and other factors, some of which are beyond the Company's control, which could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These factors include the cyclical nature of the Company's fire apparatus, refuse and recycling collection and air transportation equipment markets, which are particularly impacted by the strength of U.S. and European economies; risks that a trade war and related tariffs could reduce the competitiveness of the Company's products; the Company's ability to comply with complex laws and regulations applicable to U.S. government contractors; cybersecurity risks and costs of defending against, mitigating and responding to data security threats and breaches impacting the Company; the Company's ability to successfully identify, complete and integrate other acquisitions and to realize the anticipated benefits associated with the same; and risks related to the Company's ability to successfully execute on its strategic road map and meet its long-term financial goals. Additional information concerning these and other factors is contained in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. All forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this news release. The Company assumes no obligation, and disclaims any obligation, to update information contained in this news release. Investors should be aware that the Company may not update such information until the Company's next quarterly earnings conference call, if at all.
